

Price Guide for Wedding Displays

Dragonfire are importers of firework materials from around the world, as well as bulk buyers of British manufactured items. This allows us to offer a wide variety and generous quantities of high quality material in our displays. Every Dragonfire show is carefully planned for the occasion. Supply us with details of the site, audience, duration and proposed budget, and we will design a spectacular display to fit your needs, and set it to music if you wish. Based on our experience of past customer needs, we now offer a range of successful displays, as outlined below. Delivery charges may apply to displays under £2,000, depending on location – please ask.

Beyond the Gold display Dragonfire design larger displays to order, often combined with lighting and/or laser elements (see below). All prices are fully inclusive of transport, labour, materials and public liability insurance, but are exclusive of VAT.

Pyro-Musical Displays

Any of our shows may be set to music for which we can provide a PA system and computer synchronised firing. We can adapt the display to a selection made in consultation with the customer, and we also have a range of successful musical programmes to offer. The cost is from £350 to £750 extra depending of the size of PA needed. If required the provision of music may be inclusive in the price, with some reduction in materials.

Fire Sculpture and Special Lancework

Another Dragonfire speciality is the creation of 2D and 3D fire sculptures, burning with yellow flame and lasting for up to 10 minutes. These can be festooned with fireworks and special effects, or act as a separate, gentle element of a display. Price according to size and complexity from £500.

Lancework in up to 5 colours can be created to represent logos, words or line drawings. Set pieces can be created as a ground based element of a display. Duration is usually 1 minute. Price according to size and complexity from £350.

Special Requirements

Our largest displays are always created uniquely for the occasion but special displays can also be created to suit any budget, and to fit particular site needs or customer requirements. For example we can offer quiet displays - required by some Stately Home venues, or stage a low level display when close to an airport, or provide daylight displays for a daytime festival.
